

MONTICELLO - UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA

ARCHAEOLOGICAL FIELD SCHOOL

The Archaeology of Chesapeake Slavery and Landscape

Anthropology 5589

Six week session: June 3 - July 12, 2019

The Monticello-UVA Field School is an intensive six-week course in archaeological field and laboratory methods, offering six undergraduate or graduate credits through UVA's College of Arts and Sciences.

The Field School offers unique opportunities to:

- ▶ Participate in the entire archaeological research process, including survey, excavation, field recording, artifact processing, and analysis.
- ▶ Interact with and learn from collaborating scholars in a variety of fields including digital archaeology, archaeological data analysis, palynology, paleoethnobotany, zooarchaeology, geoarchaeology, dendrochronology, forest ecology, and history.
- ▶ Contribute to cutting-edge interdisciplinary research into the lost world of Thomas Jefferson's Monticello Plantation.

Monticello will offer successful applicants half-tuition scholarships. Since space is limited to twelve students, please be sure to have all application materials submitted by deadline: April 15, 2019.
