

Actions Over Statements

Antiracism, Equity and Inclusion and SHA

We are in a critical civil and human rights moment. As the initial wave softens, SHA members must continue to develop mindsets and behaviors that advocate equity and inclusion. This begins with education and dialogue.

Please join members of the Society for Historical Archaeology on Friday, October 30, from 1:00 pm–5:00 pm EDT as we work together to create a more inclusive, equitable, and diverse organization. Led by Dr. Jennifer Stollman of Flexability, participants in this dynamic, interactive and relevant session will discuss:

- The historical roots of contemporary racism and the impacts of contemporary social justice movements on our members;
- How we can understand and recognize bias within the SHA;
- The Big Eight identities—what they are, how they intersect, and how they impact our membership, the profession, and community engagement;
- How to hold conversations and navigate conflict around antiracism, equity, and inclusion;
- How we can identify, develop and promote approaches to antiracism, inclusion, and diversity within the SHA and how they are crucial to our future.
